President's Message

Dr. Michael Shaw, 2011 SDS President

On behalf of my fellow board members and myself, I would like to wish everyone a happy 2011. May it be a year of continued health and good fortune. I also wish for all of us a continual recovery from the many effects of our sluggish economy. During this next year, I would like to promote an effort to enhance communication with all our members. With this New Year come changes and challenges the likes of which most of us have never experienced in our careers or our lifetime. Many professional and economic changes and challenges lay ahead for all of us. It is my and your Board's priority to provide to all members of the Stanislaus Dental Society as much current and hopefully helpful information as possible. With knowledge comes power, hopefully the power to navigate through uncharted water. To facilitate the dissemination of this information and provide a way of obtaining our membership's questions and responses, the official website of the Stanislaus Dental Society is up and running. Although many months have elapsed from inception to actually getting the site online, I believe we all shall share the benefits of this task. There is literally something for everyone and along with the links provided within the site it should become a "go to" place for most questions regarding our practice of dentistry, our dental society, the CDA, and the ADA. If there are questions or any additions you would like to see included on the site, please let us know and if possible, we will attempt to make the modifications, as it is truly a work in progress.

With the multitude of changes in health care in front of us, I will attempt in the future to bring light to those specific issues that have the potential to affect our practice of dentistry and all that is related to its practice and our profession. As the economic anchor continues to settle into the silt, we are observing changes in our personal and professional lives related to the financial cuts necessary to simply do business on a day-to-day basis. One possible cut that is very close to home is the possible termination of the Dental Assisting Program at MJC. I believe we all would agree that this would affect our community and especially those individuals interested in pursuing an education in entering our field. The practice of dentistry itself is also changing and it will require your support and input to attempt to guide those changes to acceptable ends. One very important change is the creation of the mid-level provider within the practice of dentistry here in California. It will be one of my goals to keep our membership fully informed with respect to this issue.

I look forward to the year ahead and all the challenges it will most certainly offer. In closing, I would like to emphasize to each and every member of the Stanislaus Dental Society that your input and ideas are very important to the continued growth and enrichment of this society so I advocate an open door policy to all members, for any and all ideas that you believe will help our Society become more beneficial to all.

CDA Presents: Anaheim Attendee Resources

CDA Presents: Register Online!

Online registration is now available for CDA Presents in Anaheim, Thursday – Saturday, May 12–14, at the Anaheim Convention Center. The dates of the show, which features more than 550 exhibiting companies showcasing the latest in dental technology, products and services, reflects CDA's new Thursday through Saturday show schedule.

To improve the registration process, CDA has made changes to the guest fees. The advance registration fee for a dentist to register a guest or staff person has been reduced from $10 to $5. With this decrease, CDA has eliminated the one free guest to alleviate confusion and streamline the registration system. Attendees interested in saving on their guest registrations, should register by the advance registration deadline of Friday, April 1 to take advantage of the reduced price.

Additional benefits of early registration:

- Badges and other registration materials will be mailed in advance so attendees can immediately participate in the show upon arrival.
- Attendees have a much higher chance of securing the popular classes and workshops of their choice.
- Tradeshow specials and discounts are mailed in advance to help attendees plan their exhibit hall experience.

To take advantage of these perks, register by April 1 at cdapresents.com.

SDS Board Member Feature: Dr. Matt Swatman, DDS, MSD

The SDS Board is pleased to have Dr. Matt Swatman serving as Secretary this year. He has served as a member of the Peer Review Committee in the past and has given generously of his time over the years to work with our local dental community.

Dr. Matt Swatman continues a tradition in dentistry following in the footsteps of his father, Dr. Donald Swatman, a retired general dentist who also practiced in Modesto. Matt graduated from UCSF School of Dentistry and completed a hospital dentistry residency at the Martinez VA before becoming the first Director of Dental Services for the Stanislaus Medical Center from 1990-1997. Through his efforts, a county dental clinic focused on pediatric dentistry became a reality. Dr. Swatman also worked part-time in private practice general dentistry before returning to San Francisco to earn an Orthodontic specialty degree at UOP.

Matt says he enjoys practicing orthodontics in our community and "loves his new office in Modesto". In 2008, he was able to move just a few blocks from his original orthodontic office to an office that is larger and has more windows.

In his spare time, Matt enjoys being in the great outdoors. Depending on the season, he loves to snowboard, golf, water ski and wakeboard and scuba dive.

Thank you Dr. Matt Swatman for your time and energy you spend to keep our dental society thriving!

PS. To our loyal members: You may be thinking about becoming involved in our dental society. It doesn't matter if you are a new grad or have years under your belt. There are many different ways to help us based on your time and talents. Call Robin today to express your interest.

New Online Forms Help Dentists Document Key Info on Minors

Dentists who regularly provide care to children will soon have access to several highly informative, downloadable pediatric forms to help them with the paperwork that goes with treating those patients.

The forms, which will be available on the CDA Compass website at cdacompass.com in the coming months, offer dentists detailed information on collecting minor patient information such as confidential health history, separate responsible party authorizations for treatment and payment, and authorization for a caretaker to accompany a minor patient to certain dental appointments.

The forms are the result of a number of recent inquiries from pediatric, orthodontic, and even some general dentists who regularly treat children. Last summer, the Compass made available the "New Patient Forms Bundle," a package of patient information and health history forms mainly geared toward adult patients. In contrast, these new forms are designed specifically for minors and address questions that are unique to the treatment and care of children.

The forms will cover information and questions such as:

- The child's custodial situation. (With whom does the patient primarily reside? Are the parents or guardians married/divorced/single?)
- Who are the child's legal guardians with whom the child may accompany to appointments? (Which parent/legal guardian is authorized to accept treatment on behalf of the child?)
- The financially responsible party. (Do both parents have dental benefit plan coverage? If so, which plan becomes the primary, and which becomes the secondary coverage for the child? Which guardian/parent is financially responsible for the minor patient's medical and dental care?)
- The child's health history. (Health and dental health history questions that would only pertain to children.)
- Caretaker authorization. (This would apply if a parent/legal guardian wants to authorize a caretaker to accompany the child to appointments. The authorization outlines specific appointments in which the caretaker can bring the child, and also lists the types of appointments and procedures in which the caretaker can not do so.)

Check the Compass website at www.cdacompass.com for more details.

Website

Well, that moment has FINALLY arrived...the new Stanislaus Dental Society's website is up and running! We appreciate your patience while we've been under construction but we wanted to get it just right. Thank you to the Website committee for following this project through to its release.

Go to stanislausdental.org and check out our site! It contains topical articles, a calendar of events and a members-only personal directory (accessed only by an SDS member's secure personal password). SDS members will be able to download flyers for its events and members outside of SDS will be able to download forms to our continuing education courses. For the public, a SDS Find a Member Dentist directory and oral health care information as well as information for Allied Health professionals. There is also a Resource page with links that can directly connect you to a wealth of resources related to the dental profession as well as the many resources in Stanislaus County. That's what we hope to become, your one stop resource center!

The SDS website is a work in progress. If you want to comment about something on the site, contact me at the SDS office by email at sdsdent@thevision.net and let me know. You can do it right from the website under the Contact tab!

Dues!

Dues! It's that time again. I already know that you recognize the value of being a member of organized dentistry; that's why you joined in the first place! Besides access to great insurance benefits through TDIC and TDIC IS, the CDA also provides you with valuable tools like cdacompass.com to answer most of your practice support needs. The power of your membership also gives voice to the CDA and ADA as they protect the rights of your profession with legislators. And last but not least, you have the local level of support you receive from your SDS office (Have a question? Call Robin!). Remember, any organization is more effective as a unit rather than an individual.

Helpful hint: Recognizing that times are tight for many members, CDA offers an Electronic Dues Payment (EDP) Program. Monthly dues payments are made through an Electronic Funds Transfer (EFT) through your checking account so you can have your payments evenly spread out over the course of the year. There is a $12 yearly service fee included for those that sign up. Many members are recognizing the value of this program and taking advantage. CDA will accept electronic dues payment signups by mail through April 15 and online, April 30. Renew your membership the easy, convenient way! Go to the following website and complete the form: www.cda.org/library/components/mail/component_dd_authorization.pdf. Please keep in mind, after March 31 CDA will add a $100 late fee to your dues amount. Quick, make that phone call!

Volunteers

Finally...Any organization is as good as the members who support it. Recently a request for committee members for both the Continuing Education and Community Health committees was sent to SDS members. I was so pleased when some of our members stepped forward and offered their support. This year is starting out promising as the year of the volunteer. Your involvement means growth and viability for Stanislaus Dental Society. And just so you know, it's never too late to volunteer for any of our committees, we always have enough room and welcome your involvement!

... SDS members: preserving the dental health of the earth's population, one patient at a time!

Editor's Letter

by Jodi Sceville, DDS – SDS APEX Editor

I don't make New Year's resolutions. There I said it! Every day is a new chance to alter the course closer to our goals. There have been many recent changes in the dental 'world' in the last few years, not only economic but legislative, and it makes it more difficult to operate a business and manage employees, as well as treat our patients with the utmost care. In talking with my colleagues we all face the same challenges, but it all comes back to some simple principles that keep me on track:

- Be nice to people
- Be prompt and respect other's time
- Listen
- Do the right thing

There promises to be a lot happening on a local and state level in the near future and as your dental society editor, I hope to be just one link in the chain that keeps our members up to date with what affects us in our every day practice. I hope that 2011 brings much success to our dental society members and beyond.

Amalgam Under Scrutiny: FDA, EPA Considering New Rules

Food and Drug Administration advisers urged the agency in December 2010 to examine all relevant evidence in reviewing its 2009 regulation that mercury-containing dental amalgam fillings are safe.

On Dec. 14 and 15, 2010, the FDA's expert advisory committee heard testimony from more than 30 individuals — including experts, members of the public and dental professionals — on dental amalgam safety. The committee has no regulatory authority but discussed a number of scientific questions meant to aid the FDA's consideration of the regulation of dental amalgam.

In 2009, the FDA issued a regulation on dental amalgam, making it a Class II device and concluding that clinical studies did not establish a causal link between dental amalgam and health problems in people age 6 and older. The FDA noted, however, that developing fetuses and young children might be more sensitive to the neurological effects of mercury.

At the conclusion of the hearing, the panel recommended that the FDA look at information updated since the agency made its previous ruling. It also recommended that the FDA develop models to study the effects of mercury vapor exposure from dental fillings taking into consideration the age, health history and physical makeup of individuals.

Dental amalgam is also under closer review by the Environmental Protection Agency, which is initiating for dental offices this year proposed rules regulating discharges of mercury into the environment. The ADA has been working with the EPA for more than a year on the voluntary installation of amalgam separators by dentists. However, this has been a slow process nationally; and the new rules, which will likely require dental offices to install amalgam separators, are expected to take effect in 2012.

For many years, CDA has proactively worked with water agencies and cities across California to provide education on the steps dentists take to ensure minimal amounts of amalgam enter the wastewater stream.

In 2009, CDA adopted policy supporting the installation of amalgam separators as a best management practice for amalgam waste. The best management practices include installing an amalgam separator compliant with ISO 11143, the use of chairside traps to capture amalgam, special training for staff handling mercury-containing material, and recycling or proper disposal of amalgam waste.

"Dentists have historically been good stewards of the environment," said Lindsey Robinson, DDS, chair of CDA's Policy Development Council. "Technology allows us to capture more than 95 percent of dental amalgam waste before it enters the environment."

Information on best management practices can be downloaded at cda.org.
