Michael Scherer, DMD, MS, FACP maintains a practice limited to prosthodontics and implant dentistry in Sonora, California. Dr. Scherer is an internationally recognized expert on dental implants, dentures, and digital technology and has published numerous articles in leading dental journals. Over the last five years, his love of education and awareness of the newest practices and products has allowed him to personally teach and coach thousands of dentists, both nationally and internationally, how to replace teeth with dental implants and how to use dental implants to anchor loose dentures. Dr. Scherer is a Clinical Professor at Loma Linda University, a Clinical Instructor at University of Nevada School of Dental Medicine, and is a board-certified prosthodontist—an accreditation held by less than 1,000 practitioners worldwide.

Course Abstract:

Are you confused about digital dentistry and what to do first? Have you gotten a scanner and are unsure of how to figure out all of the features? This comprehensive clinical-based program will provide a systematic approach aimed at helping clinicians to review current and future trends in digital dentistry, how we utilize digital technology, and what we do to maximize the effectiveness of the latest digital technologies. The presentation will be focused upon clinical workflows and where digital dentistry works, when it falls short, and how we work around challenges.
