Deadly Dental Bacteria: Kill Or Be Killed

More than ever, the volume of people with deadly diseases is on the rise. During this presentation, you will learn why we need to embrace the role of "Oral Physician" to solidify the relationship between medical care and oral care.

- Recognize the various signs of deadly bacteria not only existing in a patient's mouth, but how it is dangerously spreading, impacting or aggravating other diseases.
- Learn why reviewing the patient's Health History may not be enough
- Find out what diagnostic screenings we should be doing to provide optimal care
- Create a treatment plan that addresses the spread of deadly bacteria, preventing, correcting or reversing its devastating impact on the body.

HOW MANY FELONIES DID YOU COMMIT TODAY?

Attendees will learn the skills necessary for achieving diagnostic excellence, how coding incorrectly can put both your practice and license at risk, coding for legitimate reimbursement and protecting the practice through proper documentation.

- Understand aspects of risk management and why auxiliaries are at risk
- Explore how the patient could be better served while protecting the integrity of the practice
- Discover that healthcare fraud does not have to be intentional to be prosecuted
- Learn how proper diagnostics and documentation will help keep you out of court
- Recognize the significance of comprehensive diagnostic information

Attendees are encouraged to bring redacted copies of a NP exam, SRP, Prophy, and restorative charting. We will review them together to illuminate areas that may be putting your practice at risk.
